- development of the UEMS House – Domus Medica Europaea
- development of research and education projects in areas of specialist training and practice, funded by European Union programs

It is my strong personal belief that teams are much more efficient than individuals, particularly in organizations like ours. The UEMS is a very large organization that requires full commitment on the part of its Executives and an active participation of Colleagues who can dedicate their time to the UEMS activities. Role of the president and Executive is to promote and coordinate our joint effort to make full use of the UEMS enormous potential.
