CME status in your country (mandatory/voluntary?)	Voluntary (no recertification but legislative requirements, see below)  The FMA recommends a minimum of 10 CME days per year paid by the employer. The FMA recommendations for CME/CPE were updated in December 2023 in collaboration with other key professional medical organizations.  The Finnish legislation requires that all health care professionals maintain and update their knowledge and skills, and that the employers enable their participation in CME/CPD.
Please specify if sanctions could apply in case of breach	No sanctions presently. The responsibility to follow the above mentioned laws lies on the employer, as well as on the individual doctor.
CME accreditation body	Finnish Medical Association www.laakariliitto.fi

Is there a separate “CME credits recognition body” for individual doctors?	No
Number of delegates to UEMS Bodies	Appr. 100

Do NMA members participate in EACCME national review? If Yes, how many events have been reviewed in 2024?	Yes Appr. 15
Please list events/topics/developments that you consider the most important for medical specialists in your country	Finland had been planning a major social and health care reform for a long time, and the Parliament finally endorsed the laws in June 2021. A key feature of the reform is the integration of primary and hospital care, as well as that of health and social services. The responsibility for organizing services moved from over 300 municipalities to 21 regions and the City of Helsinki as of 1 January 2023. The regions receive their funding from the national government. These regional organizations started their work in 2023, many of them facing now severe financial difficulties. Regional elections in these “wellbeing services counties” are being held in April 2025 for the second time. The FMA has long emphasized that a key priority should be to strengthen the primary health care and guarantee adequate continuity of care. A well-working primary health care is also the basis for functional specialized care. Other FMA goals are e.g. to increase the level of health care funding and guarantee sufficient resources for medical education and research. The Finnish Government has increased the number of new medical students over the past years and, furthermore, an increasing number of young Finns study medicine in e.g. the Baltic countries, Romania, and Sweden, with the aim to return to Finland after graduation. The FMA has invited all relevant bodies for an analytical discussion towards a national consensus regarding the realistic number of medical workforce expected to be needed in the future. The government is now making plans to better estimate the need of health care professionals in the future. The quality of education must be guaranteed in all circumstances, which requires adequate resources for education and training.

Recent prognoses regarding future specialist workforce indicate that in many specialties there is an urgent need to increase specialist training (e.g. psychiatry), whereas in some others, trainee numbers should be even decreased. A new selection procedure to specialist training was introduced in 2019, with the aim to gradually balance future demand and supply of specialists. National prognosis on future specialist training needs are updated annually.

There is also concern about equal distribution of specialists in different parts of the country. There can be a shortage of specialists in certain parts of the country and, at the same time, oversupply in other parts, especially in the bigger cities.

The specialist training in Finland is being developed towards competence-based structures, the five medical faculties collaborating here actively. The new model requires considerable resources from the senior specialists acting as supervisors/tutors/mentors, which has to be taken into account in the resource allocation at health care units. However, the national government has decided to reduce the 2026 compensation for specialist training for health care units due to savings in the national budget.

New methods of e-learning have been introduced during the past four years, and it seems that many of these are to remain now after the pandemics.

The Finnish Government is also planning a revision of the law on health care professionals. However, it is unlikely that e.g. recertification would be introduced in Finland in the near future.

Please list events/topics/developments that you consider the most important for medical specialists in your country	In Tunisia, there is a new trend to revise legislation relating to the practice of medicine and to find solutions to encourage medical specialists to stay in Tunisia and practise in disadvantaged areas. Upgrading the often-outdated health facilities is a slow process, hampered by a lack of financial resources. Medical and surgical achievements are regularly made, but this masks the reality of everyday medical practice. There is a huge gap between the private sector, which is highly efficient but inaccessible to the average Tunisian, and the public sector, which is accessible but very limited in terms of resources. Finally, the inversion of the ratio of specialist doctors to general practitioners or family doctors complicates the implementation of a system based on the first line of care.

Brussels, May 25th and 26th of 2025

Activity Reports of FEMS (Federation of European Salaried Doctors)

Alex Ramos, MD. MEd, 2nd Vicepresident of FEMS

The new FEMS board officially began its mandate on January 1, 2025. In these three months, it has defined the new political line and the strategic initiatives it will implement in the coming months:

- Recognition of medical work as arduous work, through an analysis of the current national and European regulatory guidelines and the initiation of a discussion table with European institutions.
- Identification of the fundamental rights of employed doctors, with a particular focus on the union protections for workers.
- Determination of staffing needs through the adoption of the full-time equivalent model for operators.

Additionally, FEMS will launch the project – Shaping the future of Doctors' Health The FEMS Survey Project.
